

COURSE

Speech Making Training

Duration

One-day, two-days or even half a day if time is tight.

Location

We run our courses in the offices of our clients however, an external site can be sourced by us.

Learning outcomes

It is widely reported as one of the most stressful activities, so little wonder speech making gets a bad rap. This is hardly helpful information for people who need to make speeches but feel terribly uncomfortable doing so. Our course is centred on training the participants in speech making fundamentals but also bringing out their individual style so their future speeches are delivered with confidence and aplomb.

Key learning areas

Topics include:

- Being briefed about the content of the speech
- Managing the development of the speech
- Drafting the speech with maximum efficiency
- Rehearsing the speech
- Trouble-shooting the speech and avoiding the night horrors
- Delivering the speech.

Major benefits of the course

Business benefits of this course include:

- Improved business performance and productivity
- A tangible return on training investment
- Competitive advantage due to excellent outbound and inbound communication
- Increase in reputation and word of mouth referrals
- Greater employee satisfaction and retention
- Smoother internal operations
- Increased success rate of project and proposal signoffs
- Streamlined speech-making processes and training knowledge.

Finer points

The finer points of this course include:

- It can be delivered anywhere in Australia or internationally
- It can be combined with our speech-writing course
- Anyone at any career level can attend the course and benefit from it
- All participants receive a colour certificate on completion
- There is ample time for discussion, interaction and individual attention
- The course is delivered by experts in the subject matter
- Hands-on exercises and tasks are customised to the everyday roles of participants

CLINTON
COMMUNICATIONS

- The comprehensive manual is an excellent resource post-training
- Contemporary training methodologies and adult learning principles are utilised
- The trainers deliver the material in an engaging and inclusive style.

About Clinton Communications

We specialise in written and verbal communication. Our offering includes training, communication and documentation services. We provide powerful, customised solutions designed to improve business performance and develop and retain a skilled workforce.

Contact Us

Please contact us with any questions you have or to request a proposal for delivering training in your organisation.

Karen Sims
Principal
Clinton Communications

M 0438 310 866
E. karensims@clintoncommunications.com.au
W. www.clintoncommunications.com.au

PO Box 5097
Alphington Victoria
Australia 3078